

Ohio Peace and Conflict Studies
Undergraduate Student Education Scholarship
Spring 2026 Application

Deadline Tuesday, November 11, 2025

(Decisions will be made by November 25, 2025)

The Ohio Peace and Conflict Studies Fund, housed at the Hudson Community Foundation, was developed to support education related endeavors which promote the application of constructive, nonviolent forums, processes, and techniques for resolving local to global issues. This includes supporting student scholarships, student participation in related conferences, research, international study opportunities, and/or internships.

As of 2025, Ohio has 19 colleges and universities with peace and conflict studies related programs. Ohio has also been in the top ten states in the United States, over the last decade, for refugee resettlement. Refugees have been forced to leave their country due to conflict, persecution, or human-made or natural disasters.

Since the scholarship began, we have been able to provide support to students from Kent State University, Ohio University, The University of Akron, and Wilberforce University, supporting not only their academic coursework, but also, participation in peace and conflict studies related conferences and training.

For Spring 2026, we are able to provide funds for two (2) scholarships of up to $1,500.

Preference is given to:

- Ohio college students from Summit County, Ohio, currently enrolled in a peace/conflict studies program at an accredited Ohio college/university, having completed at least one semester with at least a “C” average.
- Ohio students who have, at some point, held refugee status, currently enrolled in an accredited Ohio college/university in a field through which they intend to be of service to their community (education, health care, political science, social services), having completed at least one semester with at least a “C” average.

Details are provided in the application guidelines below.

Two Options:

- Peace/Conflict Studies Scholarship: Ohio college students from Summit County, Ohio, currently enrolled in a peace/conflict studies program at an accredited Ohio college/university, having completed at least one semester with at least a “C” average
- Ohio College Student Scholarship – Former/Current Refugee Status: Ohio students who have, at some point, held refugee status, currently enrolled in an accredited Ohio college/university in a field through which they intend to be of service to their community (such as education, health care, political science, social services, etc.), having completed at least one semester with at least a “C” average.
